

Particularly in rural communities, this would have no choices. The phone company or nothing is who we'd get as a service provider. An we don't have a real choice of phone company as it is. We need access in all possible ways, from the widest possible assortment of providers. Let the competition and variety of resources continue. Don't reclassify the LECs. Ann Long